

Over the last 10 years, Lorraine Sheldon has done a variety of commercial and residential projects for us, initially as a senior designer for Miami's leading design firm and more recently through her own firm, Quetzal Designs International, Inc.

She redesigned a 20,000 square foot commercial building for us in Coral Gables which subsequently sold for top dollar, has turned an empty warehouse in Wynwood into our thriving art gallery, and created an entirely new and contemporary approach for our advertising and public relations offices getting rave review from our clients.

On the residential side, Lorraine has created an Art Deco bathroom for us and just finished restyling the entire first floor of our residence on the Sunset Islands, effectively reusing many of our favorite existing furniture pieces while enhancing the presentation of our art collection.

Her creativity and innovative concepts set Quetzal apart from so many other area design firms. In today's tight economic environment her sensitivity to budget constraints and ability to come in within budget are particularly important. We recommend her unconditionally.
